Granger, Fletcher Battle Over Insurance Policies

Openly charging a fellow councilman with participating in city business, Floyd Granger Monday set off a verbal battle which resulted in the dissolution of the city council's insurance committee.

Councilman E. A. Fletcher, the object of Granger's attack, vehemently denied the accusations which all but led to the fist-swinging stage and which Councilman C. A. Britschgi termed "dirty politics."

The dispute arose from a report from the insurance committee—composed of Councilman Harold F. Anderson and Fletcher—which had recommended the city renew its blanket liability policy with Maryland Casualty Co. "You can't participate in this policy," Granger asserted, later adding, "I mean Mr. Fletcher is representing the Maryland Co."

"I never was interested in this policy," Fletcher retorted. Continuing, he said he would ask the city attorney for a clarification. "I think it was very poorly handled," Granger added.

It was pointed out that rates on the Maryland policy and one from Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. were identical in that rates had been set by an insurance board using the same statistics and figured on the same basis.

"I took another company to force it (Maryland) down," Granger said in referring to the modified rates. Several members of the council explained the drop in rates was effected by the board.

"Are you a member of the insurance committee?" Councilman C. A. Britschgi asked of Granger. "No."

"Then how do you know so much about it?" Britschgi asked.

Granger went on to explain he had been approached by a Hartford representative. "I told him to submit a bid," the councilman said. "I still insist this was poorly handled."

The situation was eased somewhat when the councilmen approved the recommendation of the insurance committee in accepting the Maryland policy.

Then Granger asked the city attorney to check with Section 77 of the city charter which prohibits city officers from participating in city business.

"Can't Mr. Fletcher tell us that," asked Councilman George McNulty. "I am not participating in city business. That policy was written through another agency. I've nothing to hide, George, you know that."

Mayor W. W. Hilton recommended bids be taken for city purchases of insurance in the future. Discussion brought out the fact that certain standards for city insurance policies did not make it feasible to accept policies by means of formal bids.

"I understand the whole thing is dirty with politics," Britschgi affirmed. "The Hartford man did come to see me," Fletcher admitted. "I referred him to Anderson, the chairman of the insurance committee.

"He didn't see Britschgi—he played with the 'big boys,'" Fletcher said nodding toward Granger and explaining, "I'm referring to my friend at the end of the table."

Describing the Hartford agent as Fletcher's friend, Granger said he would not know the agent if he saw him.

"I think you would—I know you would," was Fletcher's answer. Moving the insurance committee be dissolved, Anderson asked that in the future, the city manager submit quotations of prices to the council and that that body consider policies.

Britschgi commented, "Two can study the insurance better than seven."

Councilman C. C. Armstrong seconded Anderson's motion which passed above the opposition of Britschgi, Fletcher and McNulty.

Ask Ousters Of Two S.M. City Officials

Superior Court Judge Maxwell McNutt Tuesday signed an order to show cause why City Atty. Ernest Wilson and City Councilman Carol Speers of San Mateo should not be ousted from their positions on charges they had private business relationships with the municipality. The order is returnable here next Monday before Judge Andrew R. Schottky of Marin County.

The writs of mandate for removal of Wilson and Speers were filed in superior court here this morning by Charles H. Peterson, a San Mateo taxpayer. Peterson was city auditor until the last term when the city rejected his contract renewal by a 3-2 vote.

Peterson alleged that Speers is the owner of the Atlas Home Supply Co. and that on Jan. 12, 13, and 25 of this year he entered into negotiations to sell to the city of San Mateo paints and materials, while a member of the San Mateo Planning Commission. On Feb. 5, Speers was appointed to the city council.

Peterson claimed that Speers "entered into the contract of sale, voted for the contract, became beneficially interested in same and gained a profit from the contract while a member of the council."

Speers received payment for the three sales on Feb. 19, the petition alleges.

Peterson contended that section 33 of the city charter provides that no member of the council or any board shall be or become directly or indirectly interested in any contract, work or business, or sale of any article in the city. The section states, Peterson said, that any contract with the city in which any officer or employee is interested becomes void, and any such officer or employee shall be expelled.

The petition further states that section 1090 of the state code states that city officers shall not be interested in any contract made by them, and provides that any officer who violates it is punishable by fine of $1000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years.

Peterson named Mayor Claude J. Hirshey and Councilmen Richard T. McAllister, Edward A. Reilly and Creed Haberin in the writ against Speers, contending they are "conspiring to maintain Speers in office and to violate section 33 of the charter."

Peterson demanded a trial by jury upon the charges against Speers and Wilson.

City Attorney Wilson's law firm was interested in the Studio Tract when the city was clearing title to lots and making street improvements there, Peterson contends. He points out that Haberin and Reilly have demanded that Wilson be ousted, but that the majority of the council refuses to expel him, contending that the council majority and Wilson are "friendly to each other."

State Atty. Gen. Robert W. Kiny will be asked by the San Mateo City Council to render an opinion on the legality of Wilson's business relations with subdividers, it was decided last night at a stormy council session which saw an attempt to disbar Councilman Speers fail.

The attorney general also will be asked to rule on the legal issues involved in the 1943 fight over a tax reduction program for Lot 9 of the Studio Tract, in which Wilson was charged by City Councilmen Edward J. Reilly and Creed Haberin with sponsoring the tax reduction for his personal profit.

Wilson's supporters and foes on the council last night joined in voting to refer the two controversies revolving around the city attorney to the attorney general, after earlier passing a motion to have both controversies settled by a court.

An attempt by Reilly and Haberin to have a court test made of the right of Speers to sit as a council member failed, with the council deadlocking 2-2 on the motion. Speers did not vote.

Last night's council meeting was attended by a record-breaking crowd of more than 200 persons, who applauded, laughed boisterously, and showed strong partisan feeling.

Peterson asked that Wilson be expelled and that the city council take steps to return Studio Lot 9 to the city, and that Speers be expelled and to declare any and all contracts in which Speers and/or McAllister and Hirshey entered into while councilmen, and from which they received either remuneration, reward, benefit, gratuity or profit, null and void.

Wilson has been city attorney for 15 years.

Mead Names Towne To Port Commission

Kendall B. (Pete) Towne, Redwood City automobile dealer, was named Monday to the Board of Port Commissioners by City Mgr. Robert W. Mead in one of five appointments to city boards and commissions made at the regular meeting of the city council.

Others appointed to fill existing vacancies were John Nordstrand to complete the unexpired term of Henry Witte on the planning commission, Francis Britschgi to the term vacated by the resignation of Edward Allen from the planning commission, and David Stott to the board of review. mission, which administers Redwood City's million-dollar port, received the unanimous approval of the council.

Towne, a native of Redwood City, has been active in city affairs since 1926 when he and his brother, Frank Towne, formed the Towne Motor Co., Ford agency.

He is a past president of the Redwood City Exchange Club, served as director for the chamber of commerce for three years, and for the past several years has headed the chamber of commerce committee which sponsors the annual Christmas party. The new commissioner is also a charter member of the mounted patrol, civilian defense group.

Graduated from the University of California with the Class of 1924, he is also a graduate of Sequoia High School.

Nordstrand, member of the traffic study committee, was nominated to the post of planning commissioner by Councilman C. C. Armstrong. In making the nomination, Armstrong requested Nordstrand to resign from the traffic committee in accepting the position on the planning commission.

The name of Francis Britschgi, brother of Councilman C. A. (Ike) Britschgi, was presented to the council for its approval by Councilman Harold F. Anderson. Britschgi will serve the unexpired term of Edward Allan on the planning commission.

Councilman David Stott to serve on the board of review to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Willis Frost. Frost, recently appointed consultant engineer on the $998,000 Redwood City postwar public works program, resigned from the board in order to comply with Section 77 of the city charter.

Three of the persons involved in the black market meat operations Monday were sentenced to four years in prison and one was given a three-year sentence. Two others, Clarence W. Jacky of Millbrae and Angelo I. Vincenzini of South San Francisco, were cleared of charges by a directed verdict of acquittal.

Delay Action On Home Site

Action on the proposal to transfer the San Mateo County Juvenile Home from its present location on lower Broadway to an 8½ acre site on the northeast corner of Spring and Willow Sts., Redwood City, was deferred by the County Board of Supervisors this week for two weeks.

Supervisors agreed that more time was needed to study the proposed change. Eighty-five Redwood City business men submitted a petition to the board recently, protesting the erection of the new juvenile home on the present site.

L. A. Heiner, county right-of-way agent, said today, "It is my opinion that the property to be acquired by the county in this proposed exchange is of equal or greater value than the county lands to be given in exchange."

The County Probation Committee has unanimously recommended that the present site be exchanged for the Spring and Willow Sts. location. Juvenile Court Judge A. E. Cotton has also added his approval.

All of the county property now occupied in the present juvenile home block would be exchanged for the newly suggested site except the land and buildings occupied by the County Agriculture Department, it was pointed out today.

The new location would provide ample recreational space and room for expansion. E. H. Cosgriff, chairman of the probation committee, man of the county owns the entire block on lower Broadway where the present juvenile home is now situated. The Spring and Willow Sts. property is located about a quarter of a mile west of Bayshore Hwy. and is nearly five blocks south of the present site.

'Gallon Club' Honors Six Local Residents

'Gallon Club' pins, signifying that the wearers have contributed at least a gallon of blood to the San Mateo County Blood Bank, have been issued to six local residents, it was reported today.

The emblems are of silver, about the size of a dime and contain the stamp of the County Blood Bank and the words "Gallon Club." Today wearing the pins are Mrs. David Bohannon of Redwood City; Mrs. A. Leeman of Menlo Park; Claude Swayze of Atherton; Mrs. S. E. Day, Mrs. Elizabeth Gentry and Gloria Nielsen of San Carlos.

Wins Sentence Delay In Meat Black Market

Federal Judge Louis Goodman in San Francisco Tuesday for a second time delayed sentencing of Lucien de Angury, truck driver, who recently pleaded guilty to transporting 18,000 pounds of black market meat from San Francisco to Millbrae, so that a probation report could be made.

Three of the persons involved in the black market meat operations Monday were sentenced to four years in prison and one was given a three-year sentence. Two others, Clarence W. Jacky of Millbrae and Angelo I. Vincenzini of South San Francisco, were cleared of charges by a directed verdict of acquittal.

Overseas a year, Corporal Ferreira has been in the army two years. The 25-year-old soldier is a graduate of Sequoia High School. Three other Ferreira brothers are also in the army. John, a corporal, is in Belgium; Frank, private first class, is stationed at the Sacramento army air base, and Pvt. Manuel Ferreira, 19, is at an air base in Texas.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Scouts, Cubs and Sea Scouts are now hard at work contacting householders advising them to have all old newspapers and magazines in readiness for the all-out paper collection to be staged here Apr. 3.

William P. Stevens, district scout commissioner, is directing the efforts of the various scout units. Scouts participating will receive recognition under the nation-wide co-operation with the war salvage under a plan endorsed by Gen. "Ike" Eisenhower who is personally making medal awards to members contributing to the final result. A shell-container for a large caliber shell bearing a personal message from the general will be awarded to the troop averaging 1000 pounds per member, as a troop trophy.

Troop News:
Troop 113: Twenty-one members were present at the last regular meeting of the troop under the direction of H. L. Day, scoutmaster. General scoutcraft drill and games were featured at the session. Individual neckerchief slides are also being made by each member.

Troop 149: First aid practice featured the last meeting under the leadership of K. J. Wenzel, scoutmaster, with 15 in attendance. An interesting game period closed the meeting.

Ship 145: Mate John Isaac was honored as the recipient of his quartermaster badge, as the feature of a joint meeting with the newly organized Belmont ship. James Seales was named ship's bugler. The parents of Mate Isaac were present as was Chet E. Wilson, assistant scout executive. Twenty-seven were present and the ceremonies were in charge of Warner Britschgi, skipper of the "Challenger."

Troop 160: Plans for an overnight hike in the near future were made at the Mar. 13 meeting of the troop with 30 members present. Participation in the state guard parade Saturday was also planned. The completion of several scoutcraft and advancement projects featured the meeting under the direction of E. H. George, scoutmaster.

Troop 104: William T. Soto and Billy Dean Hinnig completed their Tenderfoot requirements admitting them to membership in the troop and Richard Lopez and Kenneth MacDonald completed their First Class Scout rank at last Tuesday's meeting under the direction of L. W. Allen. Twenty-eight members were present and drill and inspection were features of the meeting.

Troop 110: With 11 members present a winter roast was held as part of the last regular meeting. L. D. Irwin, scoutmaster, was in charge. Plans for further increase in membership and games concluded the meeting.

Troop 102: William S. Land, scoutmaster, was in charge of the last meeting with 17 members present. Reports were heard on the efforts in behalf of the paper drive and plans were made to participate in the downtown parade. Instruction in Morse code was also given during the course of the meeting.

Troop 120: Featuring a troop court of honor was the most recent meeting of the troop. Scoutmaster H. S. Stout presided. A Tenderfoot investiture was staged by the scouts for Jerry Merrill, Mike Corcoran, and Dale Clark. Second Class award was given by Lyman Wright, troop committee chairman, to Ernest Seviars. First Class

Iwo Veteran Has Close Call
His friends call it luck, but Marine PFC John H. Whipple of Atherton, who knows how it feels to have a knee mauler dud glance off his helmet, thinks it's nothing short of miraculous. Whipple is stationed on Iwo Jima.

A former freshman football player at Stanford University, the 18-year-old Leatherneck lives at 246 Elena Ave., Atherton. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horton Whipple.

He landed on Iwo in the third assault wave on D-Day and served through the gruelling nine-day front-line drive with the 27th Marine Regiment.

This rifle company was one of the first on the beach and the first to surmount the first hill on the pill-box-studded island.

Whipple says the helmet incident occurred during the fourth day of the invasion, when the Japs laid down one of the heaviest mortar barrages in the Pacific war.

"I still don't know why that shell didn't explode. I just felt a sharp ping on the edge of my helmet and then I saw the dud drop at my feet. I was one frightened young man."

Scout rank was given to Arthur Braun with the presentation being made by William P. Stevens, district commissioner. C. K. Eisler, field executive, made the presentation of the Star Scout rank award to William Braun and George Magann. Special recognition for their leadership was given as merit badge sashes were presented on behalf of the membership. A newly organized patrol consisting of Clark, Corcoran, Merrill, Krantz, Hollenback and Moncrieff was recognized and leader Sevier was given his leader's bars. Other troop officers recognized were Senior Patrol Leader Wm. Braun, Scribe Richard Elliott, Richard Sheri, quartermaster Arthur Braun and Bugler Joe Swartz.

As charter members of the troop a group consisting of W. Braun, A. Braun, R. Clark, E. Linbarger, G. Magann, R. Shea, J. Swartz, E. Webster and K. Williams were given one year service stars. Apr. 20 was set as the date for charter night and bean feed.

Combine apples, onions, crumbs and bran for stuffing. Pat sausage into rectangular piece about 1 1/2-inch thick. Spread stuffing over surface of meat; roll up like jelly roll, beginning at the long side of rectangle. Bake in shallow pan, in a moderate oven (350°F.) about 45 minutes, or until done. Cut into slices and serve.

Yield: 1 roll (8-10 servings).

Serve More Low-Point Meats

This Winter, meat-stretching is as important a wartime activity as it has been since rationing first started. The better meat cuts are scarce, and in some parts of the country, poultry is "paltry" because of increased demands.

Then try the "two-way stretch" method on your menus, and you won't find your meats lacking because of shortages. First, serve low-point meats by making use of veal, hamburger, utility cuts, sausage, and variety meats such as heart, kidney, brains, and liver; second, stretch small quantities of the better cuts with ready-cooked cereals, breads, and vegetables!

This delicious sausage dish will get your menu-planning off to a good start, and will prove a delicious addition to any dinner table!

Local Stores To Stay Open On V-E Day

Stores in Redwood City will not close on V-E Day, it was decided by the Merchants Section of the local Chamber of Commerce at their meeting yesterday. In order to show consideration for the men on the other battle areas, merchants will co-operate with schools and organizations in a quiet day of rejoicing.

Merchants also agreed to ask all employers to permit their employees an hour during V-E Day or the day following for meditation and prayer. A slogan offered is "Stay on the Job Until the Fight Is Completely Won."

Merchandising problems, credit and what the future has in store for the businessman will be discussed by qualified speakers at a general meeting of merchants in this area, it was reported today. Date of the meeting has not been set. All merchants in this area, whether members of the Chamber of Commerce or not, will be invited to the dinner.

Interesting and humorous clothes styles will be a feature of the evening. Committee in charge of arrangements includes E. W. "Ned" Butler, James Thomas, Mrs. L. Barish and Lew Jones.

Robert W. Kelley, Ray Floyd and Lloyd E. Campbell were appointed to represent the Merchants Section of the chamber during the 7th War Loan Drive which begins in May.

Stray Dogs Barred

A $25 fine has been fixed as a penalty for letting a dog stray over neighbor's lots in London because home gardens have become so important.

Prepare Tin Cans For Collection

Redwood City housewives today were urged to flatten all the tin cans they have been saving in preparation for the Lions Club pick-up Saturday and Sunday, Mar. 24-25.

Frank DePatta, city salvage chairman, said all tin cans should be placed in containers and deposited on curbstones for the drive this weekend.

Lions Club members will collect the tin and load the salvage into gondola cars at the Southern Pacific siding.

Floyd McCue Installed Exchange Club Governor

Floyd McCue, Redwood City newspaper editor, was installed district Exchange Club governor Tuesday at his final district meeting. Reports on Exchange Club activities were presented by Ivan Branson, retiring district governor and president of the Golden Gate Exchange Club in San Francisco; Ed Zwierlein of Palo Alto, past state president; Cy Sinclair, president of the San Francisco Exchange Club; Al Prior, secretary of the Palo Alto Exchange Club, and Ray Spangler, president of the Redwood City club.

News of Commuters

BY JOE CABOOSE

We went overboard on health insurance last week and our column ran too long. Quite properly, the editor had to cut it. In our enthusiasm for "cause" we forgot the paper shortage and the fact that we have to leave a little space for other Tribune features.

If you will observe closely you will find that everything in life has its own system of "checks and balances." We have it in journalism, in constitutional government and in nature itself. We're not so, the world would soon be overrun by various species of the animal kingdom—rabbits, rats, reptiles, or even Japanese.

Be that as it may and to get back to last Monday's column, one item of real news interest to commuters was inadvertently crowded out, and we are going to repeat it here, in defiance of the blue pencil, and try to get it into print. This item concerns the report of the club's nominating committee which was read at the joint Kiwanis-Commuter dinner meeting on Mar. 8. It must be read again for "cause" and finally before the election in May.

The nominating committee was composed of Bill Dobbins, chairman; George Raubinger, Larry Olness, Bert Conroy and Charles Goodman. Their selections for officers and new directors were announced as follows: president, Clarence Brizee; vice president, W. J. McKeehan; secretary, Ed DeBow; treasurer, Al Armitage; sergeant-at-arms, Roy Fredlund and Joe Harper; directors (6 of 12 to be elected) Stan Perkins (retiring president), Ed Horgan, Bradley Martin, Art England, Miles McDonald and Bill Silverthorne.

Incidentally, for the benefit of Kiwanis who attended the joint dinner and may have thought Caboose ignored it in his column, please be advised we commented on that wonderful party at length. But that was the trouble—it was at too great length! And that soulless editor, with no appreciation of the finer things, etc., blue-penciled it.

Commuters may take real pride in the St. Patrick's party they sponsored for service men at the local USO Saturday night. It was one of the most successful of its kind ever held in Redwood City. And the reason is plain: The fine spirit and hard work of the commuter wives who put it on! And what a lovely group of ladies they are, so young and pretty you could hardly tell them from the junior hostesses!

Chairman of the group (and you'll never know how many hours of hard work she put in on this affair) was the charming and dynamic Helen Horgan, wife of Commuter Ed Horgan, who was also on hand to assist with the festivities. On duty from 3 p.m. to 12 midnight in various shifts were these devoted ladies some of whom (like Mrs. Cutting) pioneered the USO hostess work in Redwood City: Mesdames Thomas Cutting, Ray Cereghino, John Clarke, Clarence Brizee, Joseph Hahir, Joseph McClellan, Miles McDonald, O. M. Van Duyn, John Brand, Albert Morgan Jr., L. F. Winkler, Martin, Art England, Miles McDonald and Bill Silverthorne.

Other commuter wives who could not attend in person sent delicious cakes and cookies. Among these were Mesdames Paul McCarthy, Harold Donnelly, Bert Conroy, Richard Suden, Claude Gerdes, Stanley Perkins, John McGraw, A. Catlich and Roy Fredlund. Some of those named above, Mesdames McKeehan, Hahir, McDonald and Van Duyn, brought a cake and served a shift as a hostess too. The Suden cake, with its Irish trimmings, attracted so much attention that several of the service men took pictures of it.

A four-act show, representing high-class professional and amateur talent, had been rounded up by Mrs. Horgan and Tom Giannini, chairman of the Commuters' USO committee. Pat Kearns, the San Carlos councilman, accompanied by Mary Birmele at the piano, sang a number of popular Irish ballads. He was followed by Adolph Zaccanti, famous piano-accompanist from radio station KPRC, and then came Howard Ressler, vocalist entertainer at Club Seamus. The finale was one of the best acts ever presented in Redwood City. It was the Coast Guard Air Station's, "Gobs of Harmony," under the direction of Dick Wilhelm, himself a coast guardsman.

Art Caylor's Uncle Upplumuch has a solution of the San Francisco street-car problem. Funny we hadn't thought of it ourselves, it is so simple. Uncle Upplumuch would get rid of all the passengers. He claims, after exhaustive research, that it is the passengers who are cluttering up the street-cars and buses and snarling up traffic. He said if the cars and buses didn't have to stop to take on and discharge passengers, they could run on perfect schedule and everything would be lovely. (Will the chairman of the Commuters' transportation committee please note and report on this suggestion at the next meeting?)

Jury Members Study Value of Property

Members of a jury in Judge Maxwell McNutt's superior court who are to decide the value of five lots east of Bayshore Hwy. and two blocks north of Grand St. in South San Francisco to be used for the new Bayshore Freeway Wednesday went by chartered bus to view the property.

The state has offered owners of the five lots a total of $2317, but the owners are asking $8500 for the property. The jury was expected to

Lt. Lloyd Douglas Missing in Action

First Lt. Lloyd Douglas of Menlo Park, veteran of 50 missions against the Nazis, is missing in action, the War Department has informed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Douglas of 1090 College Ave. Stationed at an airbase in Italy with the 15th Air Force, Douglas was downed sometime in December, it is believed, although the War Department telegram gave no date. Only recently, he had been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for choosing to make an individual run over a target in Austria after his plane, crippled by a feathered engine, was unable to keep up with a formation of B-17s.

A graduate of Sequoia High School, the Menlo Park pilot was attending San Mateo Junior College at the time of his enlistment in the service in 1943. He was commissioned at Columbus, Miss., in January, 1944. He went overseas last Fall.
